October 2026 / Fictional sample / Version 1

Demo - sample data

This sample illustrates how an AI inventory, use case review, training register and transparency records can be assembled for a client or auditor. All companies, people, tools and activity are fictional. This document does not certify legal compliance.

RECORD	SAMPLE COVERAGE
AI inventory	14 fictional tools
Literacy register	23 fictional employees; 18 marked complete
Review status	11 reviewed; 3 awaiting review
Transparency	Chat, email and voice sample wording
Integrity	SHA-256 manifest; public sample is unsigned

Scope and limitations

Findings are illustrative and prewritten. Classification depends on the actual system, intended purpose, affected people, organization role and applicable law. Course completion and employee acknowledgment support a training record; they are not official regulatory certificates.

The editable DOCX and PDF represent the same sample content. Editing either file changes its hash. Obtain the manifest from the same sample bundle and compare the file bytes. This public manifest is not digitally signed.

AI literacy register

These are fictitious historical records for demonstration. No real employees completed these courses. The sample course is Working responsibly with AI, version 1. A real record would link an authenticated assignment, course version, quiz result and acknowledgment.

Applicability and placement

These are example texts, not a legal conclusion that every channel requires a notice. Assess provider and deployer responsibilities, content type, exceptions, timing and accessibility. A textual notice does not replace technical marking where applicable.

Outstanding actions

1. Talent Lens: specialist review of recruitment ranking and applicable high-risk conditions.

2. Meetnote: review meeting data, vendor terms, retention and participant communication.

3. Voice Loom: confirm synthetic voice disclosure and its presentation.

4. Five fictional employees: complete their assigned training.
